		Completion of Material Recovery Facility (MRF) Feasibility Study
		A member of the public, JoAnn Yukimura, asked wi feasibility study is being referred to for the completi of a MRF feasibility study and why is this included it this ISWMP since a feasibility study has already be done previously. Also asked why siting of the MRF needs to be re-evaluated since that was already do Allison Fraley – Explained that the feasibility study this ISWMP is a new feasibility study. It may use so of the information from the previous study but thing have changed enough since the last study was dor that a new one is requested. Also, the siting needs be re-evaluated because the Kaua'i Resource Cer (KRC) was the location that was previously selecte for the MRF, and there are existing plans for the KF which do not involve a MRF and the airport had sor issues with locating the MRF at the airport previous The County is looking for external assistance to complete a siting study. • Existing Recycling • A member of the public, Terrie Hayes – Asked wha currently being done with all of the recycling that is collected on the island. • Allison Fraley - Explained that non-deposit glass is crushed and used on-island for a variety of applications, Hi-5 glass is shipped to market in California to turn into new bottles, fiber and plastic containers get shipped to markets in Asia (no longe China). 		New Siting Study A member of the public, Bridget Hammerquist – As why the ISWMP recommends doing another study the MRF and another study on waste-to-energy (WTE)? Also asked why the airport cares about the location of the MRF? What are the problems with the previous feasibility and siting study? Why can't the results of those previous studies suffice? Is there a specific change in the law that makes that sting studies unacceptable? Why isn't the feasibility study still go by Lyndsey Lopez – Explained that in regard to why the airport has issues with the KRC for the MRF site, the is federal law that stipulates how close solid waste facilities can be to an airport and that the concern is related to the attraction of birds and the associated potential hazards. Also explained that WTE technologies are changing and advancing and that WTE is being relooked at as one part of the County multi-pronged approach of figuring out the long-terroptions. Explained that while the MRF was in the 2 plan, it was unfortunately not in the budget. To make sure the correct amount is put into a funding and budget request, assuming that the feasibility and si study are positive, we took the approach of gatheric updated information. Explained there are chances the make additional changes to the plan. We will look a ways that we can add detail on what specifically changed since those previous studies were done.
